FORUM ON THE CORE

During the spring semester of 1983, President Clarke assembled the Blue Ribbon Panel on the Core Curriculum to create their notion of a "model" core curriculum. The panel's proposal was submitted to the Educational Policies Committee in the fall semester for evaluation. In an effort to stimulate wide student response to the core issue the student representatives—Jeff Seul, Carla Tamburelli and Nancy Woolridge—promoted the campus-wide forum on the core.

Students, faculty and administrators filled the science amphitheater to capacity to listen to remarks from members of the panel. Forum panel members were Tom Duggen, Dr. Billy Hahs, Dr. John Kane and Mr. Bill Husson of the RECEP program. Dean Hynes offered opening remarks and Jeff Seul acted as Master of Ceremonies. The panel discussion was followed by questions from the audience. The students response was weighed heavily in EPC's resulting decision to not implement the "model" core.

Winter Spectacular is an annual event that is held during the month of January. Throughout the week a variety of events take place to revitalize the students into spring semester. All the events are organized by the students for on-campus entertainment. The events that occur during the week are Sadie Hawkins, the slide presentation I Saw The Wind, the Trivia Bowl, as well as the re-opening of the Belial Bar. The roommate game is an annual event during ranger week. Students battle it out by answering questions about how well they know their live-ins. MCed by Tim Hooper, this year's game was a success. Some of the questions asked were "When your roommate runs out of underwear do they a) go out and buy new ones, b) go without, c) or turn them inside-out?", "What is your roommate's pet's name?", and "What turns your roommate on?" Many turned out for the event, and it was a huge success.

Give of Yourself

September 1, 1983

If you aren't going to give of yourself, of what are you going to give?

Regis College has a lot to offer, whether you are a new, a transfer, or a returning student. By attending classes and being a full time student, you will receive a quality education and you might make a few friends along the way. Because of finances, you might have to hold down a work-study job. The job might teach you a little bit more about Regis here, too, you may make a few friends. However, to take advantage of everything Regis has to offer, you must do one thing—give of yourself.

If you're a new student, much of what you heard is about how much Regis can do for you. But what can you do for Regis? Everyone has talents, ambitions, and goals and Regis needs these. Much of the reputation of Regis is built of the successes of the students. There may be moments when you are sick of your roommate, overloaded with coursework, and lonely, but Regis is not just the Pink Palace, Carroll Hall, the Jesuit Community and grass. It has US. We are what makes up Regis. And as a part of the collective whole, we have a responsibility to make it as strong as possible. The word "responsibility" is often linked with unpleasant words like "drudgery," "duty" and "taking out the trash." Yet, if we join our responsibility to Regis with our own interests, both of us will come out ahead. If you have any interests at all in writing or you think you have an inkling of talent, check out the BROWN & GOLD or REFLECTIONS.

If you'd like to help other people, talk with the staff in Campus Ministry. The Minorities Awareness Committee offers events and projects specially designed for the minority student. For those more interested in world affairs, Pax Christi, the international organization for peace, may be the right organization. The RANGER yearbook also needs staff people. If you have an interest that is not represented at Regis, tell someone. Talk with the people in Student Life and see if other students share your ideas.

There are also some selfish reasons for involving yourself with participation in Regis. Clubs and organizations that relate to your career plans look great on a job resume.

They may also sharpen your skills and make you a better worker. You may even widen your interests and become competent in an area where earlier though you thought you had little concern. Club involvements are also good excuses. "I'm sorry Carter, I'd really like to go out tomorrow night, but I've got to prepare my speech for the Photographers Against the Propagation of Amoebas for Defense Purposes Rally." They will help develop your identity—to discover your true interests.

Perhaps you feel you don't have enough time to pursue your interests. As Albert Schweitzer said, "An optimist is a person who sees a green light everywhere . . . while the pessimist sees only the stop light . . . but the truly wise person is color blind." Follow your heart. Do what is right for you and you will be doing what is right for Regis.

RHO CHI SIGMA

Rho Chi Sigma is the oldest organization at Regis College. The organization's rich history dates back to 1929 and its founding as the Regis Chemistry Society. Through the years, Rho Chi Sigma has changed its focus from chemistry to community service. The orientation toward service is reflected in the Rho Chi Sigma sponsored annual blood bank, road rallies and other activities. As a fraternity, Rho Chi Sigma is dedicated to spirit of unity and brotherhood among its members. This dedication is rooted in the belief that each and every individual is deserving of self-respect, even though all people have their faults. In such a setting of mutual helpfulness, each member is provided with the opportunity to reach his or her potential.

MINORITY AWARENESS

Bernie Valdez: Advisor for Minority Awareness

Minority Awareness is an organization designed to inform members of potential opportunities available to all. They seek comradeship among not only minorities, but also the majority. Making the majority more aware of the feelings of minorities, the club offers to build a bridge between cultures. In order to further expand the comradeship, the club sponsors many annual events. This year the club sponsored two dances, one in the fall and one in the spring in order to bring the student body together. The club also sponsored dinners for its members, and they heard guest speakers who have become prominent in the business world.

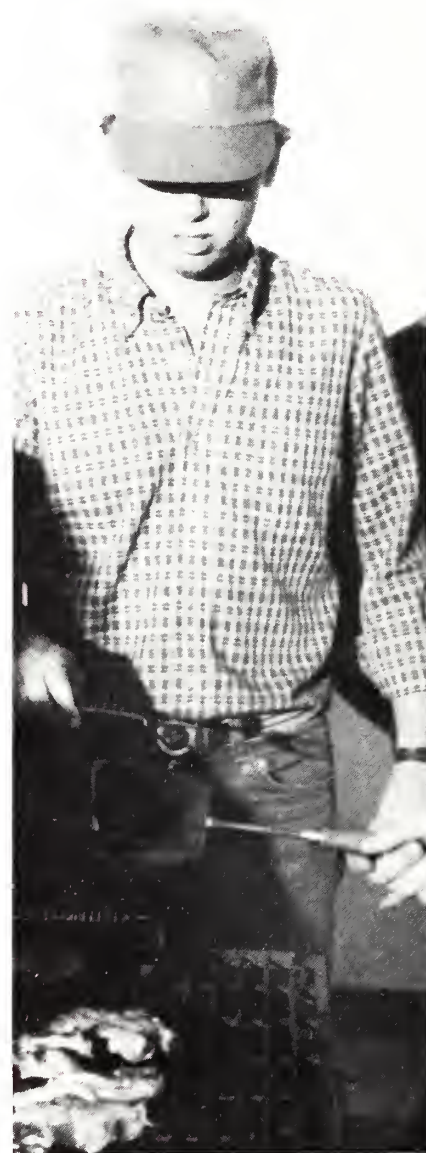

The annual Cultural Awareness Week was once again designated to inform students of different aspects in a wide variety of cultures. These aspects included displays, slide shows, and guest speakers.

The club looks forward to improving the relationships of minorities in the future years at Regis.

OUTDOOR LIFE CLUB

The Outdoor life club was organized in order that the students of Regis would be able to “get away” and enjoy Colorado’s magnificent mountains. During the 1983-84 academic year, senior, Mike Donovan took charge of the club. In the fall semester the outdoor life club organized a horse back riding trip up into the hills. The trip received a warm welcome and the response to it was excellent. According to Mike, the trip went well because of the great weather, the excellent response and the excitement about being away from campus for the day. The club also sponsored a “back to nature night” in the Belial. It too was a great success.

LAW CLUB

The Pre-Law Club can be divided into two areas, the first would be described as on-campus activities. The second would be the off-campus activities which were geared to prepare members for the legal profession.

The club sponsored several guest speakers, including attorney Scott Hatch and the assistant D.A. of Denver, who came and gave open lectures at the school.

Off campus activities during the year included, visitations to area law schools and attendance at CU's law school fair.

It is hoped these activities, with the help of the club advisor Dr. Jim Riley, gave the members a better understanding of law school and the legal profession.

Dr. Riley, advisor of Pre-Law Club

THE HISTORY OF REGIS

The history of Regis College began in November 1877, when a group of Jesuits founded Las Vegas College in Las Vegas, New Mexico. Classes were held in the private residence of Don Francisco Lopez until a building was completed in 1878.

Because of financial difficulties, the College was relocated to Morrison, a town twenty miles southwest of Denver. In September, 1884, the College was opened in Morrison as the College of the Sacred Heart. The Morrison location proved to be less than satisfactory, due to its distance from Denver and the areas lack of quality roads. Land was then purchased north of Denver and in 1888 The College of the Sacred Heart was moved there. The first graduation exercises were held in June, 1890.

In August, 1919, the College was placed under the jurisdiction of the Missouri Province of the Society of Jesus. In 1921 it was renamed Regis College in honor of St. John Francis Regis, and 18th century French Jesuit missionary.

Since the early 1950's, Regis College's expansion has been rapid. In 1977, Regis College celebrated its centenary, and adopted the slogan, "Regis-The Second Hundred Years." Regis College is dedicated to the education and the development of the individual and the preparation of the individual for a life of service to his fellow man.

THE BELIAL BEAR OASIS

Joan and Katie could often be found in the Belial showing off the latest dance steps.

This year the Belial Bar underwent many changes. Over the past eight years the bar has lost money under student management due to wages and maintenance, so the student senate decided to change how the bar was run. The second semester of the 1984 year the senate reopened the bar for rental by classes and student organizations who wished to earn extra money for themselves. Rental fees were $42.50 a night plus the beer. Along with the rental fees the organizations were responsible for maintaining the bar.

Under this new management the bar was open just as often as it was under the old student management. The organizations who rented the bar also found it was a good way to bring in some revenue for the activities they were planning. The bar was also being considered as a commuter lounge for students. The student senate was considering hiring an outside company to run the bar, but may reconsider due to the money it generated for on campus organizations.

COACHES AND STAFF

Welcome to a new era of Regis College Athletics. As you can see, we are planning one of our toughest schedules in several years. We will continue to schedule schools that make our programs exciting and challenging. I have great confidence that the coaching will continue to field competitive teams that Regis and Denver can be proud to be associated with this year and in years to come.

Since we will now be competing as an independent, our goal for Regis College Athletics is to grow to an outstanding program that combines winning teams and academic excellence, culminating in the graduation of all of our players.

Chris Dittman

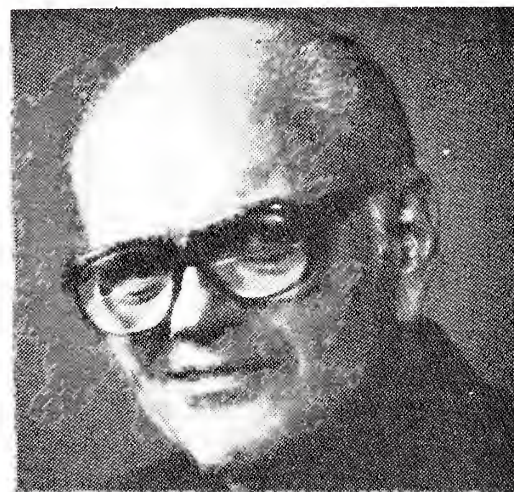

Chris Dittman, Athletic Director

Regis college athletic teams are well known for their sportsmanship and hard play. The College is strongly committed to offering a diversity of intercollegiate, intramural, and club athletic programming to students of all skill levels. Our athletic programs provide opportunities for students to increase their physical skills and to learn to compete and cooperate successfully. Our intercollegiate programs strive to field competitive teams of scholar/athletics whose primary goal is an academically strong, value-centered Jesuit education.

The College's decision last year to compete independently in intercollegiate athletics has opened the way for more competitive scheduling and will allow the College to become more nationally recognized in sports.

We look forward to a great athletics year.

Fr. David Clarke, S.J.

David M. Clarke, S.J., President

Lonnie Porter is beginning his seventh season as head coach of the Regis College basketball team. In six years, he compiled a 97-68 record, the second best winning percentage in Regis history.

Porter went on to spend five years as an assistant coach at the University of Nebraska before coming to Regis as head coach. His Regis career was highlighted by the 1977-78 season, when his 20-7 team tied for the RMAC Championship, and Porter was named NAIA District VII Coach of the Year.

In addition to his many athletic accomplishments, Porter has also received numerous non-athletic awards. As a student at Adams State, Porter was included on the Dean's List for two years and was recognized in Who's Who in American College and Universities. More recently, he was a recipient of the Outstanding Young Men in America Award in 1974 and Who's Who Among Black Americans in 1975. Regis College honored Porter in 1980 by appointing him Ambassador of the College, and this year Adams State selected Porter as the Outstanding Alumnus of 1984.

Head Coach Lonnie Porter

Assistant Coach Doug Farley

This season will be the second for Doug Farley as assistant coach of both the men's and women's basketball programs at Regis. A 1981 Regis graduate, Doug played forward for Coach Porter during the '78-'79 and '79-'80 seasons. In two years as a Ranger, Farley averaged in double figures in scoring and was one of the team's top rebounders.

Prior to coming to Regis, Farley was a student at Allan Hancock Junior College in Santa Maria, California, where he was also a member of the basketball team. He is currently teaching Physical Education for grades kindergarten through eighth at St. John's Academy in Denver. Doug received a bachelor of science degree from Regis in sociology.

Head Coach Barbara Schroeder

Barbara Schroeder is beginning her third season as head coach of the Regis Women's basketball program. A native of East Alton, Illinois, Schroeder received her bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education from Western Illinois University.

Schroeder's coaching career began in 1978 as an assistant basketball coach at Western Illinois, where she was also the assistant athletic director. From there, she went to Monmouth College as the head coach of the women's tennis and basketball teams.

At Monmouth, Schroeder compiled a 24-22 records in two seasons, before accepting a similar position at Regis College in 1981. Since coming to Regis, she has led the Rangers to a 34-21 record, an RMAC Eastern Division Championship, and a NAIA District VII Runner-Up effort.

UNDER THE LIGHTS

On Saturday, October 29th the C-MEN and the SPLEEFS met head on to battle for the championship title of the 1983 intramural football season. Throughout the season the C-MEN had remained undefeated and were victorious in capturing the 1983 title. The SPLEEFS fought commendably yet could not overcome the driving force of the C-MEN. The final score of the game was 32-26.

INTERNSHIPS

The Internship Program is designed for juniors and seniors who have selected their majors to provide them with experience in their chosen field outside the scope of the classroom. Students must work a minimum of 90 hours in the fall or spring semester in order to receive three hours of academic credit. Students must have approval from their department and a faculty sponsor.

Students in all majors may participate in internships. For many graduating seniors, enriching, on-the-job-training in business, industry, or other organizations in the Denver area may provide helpful contacts for future employment.

Students may or may not receive financial compensation for their work. The decision regarding remuneration is determined by the employer. The primary goals of the Internship Program are education and experience.

The Director of Experimental Education works with all departments on campus, is responsible for the administration and maintenance of all learning contracts, and is the liaison with employers. The faculty sponsor has the responsibility of assuring that the learning contract meets with Regis College academic standards and requirements.

The purpose of the Experimental Education at Regis College is to enable students to gain valuable experience in a business or other organizational environment while completing undergraduate coursework. Two experimental education programs are available to all Regis College students: Field Experience and Internships. Students work for an organization under the guidelines of the Regis learning contract developed by the faculty sponsor and the student. Learning objectives, specific activities, and evaluation methods are negotiated by the student, the faculty sponsor, the employment supervisor, and the Director of Experimental Education.

By the coordinating work experience with the campus educational programs, theory learned in the classroom is applied on the job. Through work experience, students can explore, confirm, or modify their career choice. Interns also acquire important employment skills, experience, and personal contacts that give them a "head start" in their job search after graduation.

Both field experience and internships allow students to acquire a greater sense of responsibility and decision-making skills, both of which are important to their success in the business world.

Through contacts with co-workers and other professionals, students gain a realistic look at their chosen profession and develop a greater understanding of working relationships and organizational structures.

The Field Experience Program, open to all freshmen through senior students, enables students in the exploratory phases of their career consideration to obtain a sampling of one or several fields before making a career and educational commitment.

Students must be recommended by the appropriate department/division for entrance into the Field experience Program. A minimum of 80 hours required. Students must maintain a journal of their observations and experience on the job, fulfill specific learning objectives, and complete job activities as outlined in their learning contract. A faculty member sponsors each student and determines the final grade for the course. The employer submits an evaluation of the student's performance for consideration in determining the final grade.

Students may or may not receive financial compensation for their work. The decision regarding remuneration is determined by the employer. The primary goals of the Field Experience Program are education and experience.

Ladies & Gentlemen, the editors applaud you!!

Dear Readers,

There comes a time for all of us when we must move on, grow and expand. There comes a time when we must say goodbye to friends and places and are left with only happy memories to cling to and cherish. It has been our goal throughout the year to put together a book that will be personal to each and every one of you. We hope that THIS Ranger will enable you to remember the good times and good people of 1983-84 both today and ten years from now.

This letter would not be complete without recognizing everything that made this book possible. We are thankful for PaPa J's pizza, Lite Beer and Extra Strength Tylenol. Most importantly though, we are very grateful to Joan Wrappe, Mike Mosher, Richard O'Connell, Allen Palmquist and everyone who supported and encouraged us along the way.

DO OR ANY KINDNESS THAT I
CAN SHOW FOR ANY FELLOW
CREATURE LET ME DO IT NOW.
LET ME NOT DEFER OR NEGLECT
IT, FOR I SHALL NOT PASS THIS
